Policy for Conducting Surveys at Pepperdine University

With the regional accreditors and federal government requiring demonstration of evidenced decision making increasing numbers of Pepperdine departments are surveying the University community. In response to this, the University has established a policy and procedure for conducting surveys within the University community. For the purpose of this document the final faculty. The need for a policy is threefold: to protect the community members' privacy, to monitor survey

Revised April 24,2020 Page | 1